No Change in Its Functions Are Planned Before R. A. Nes-
tos Enters Office

HALL WON'T SIGN BONDS

Says Papers Not Properly Made
Out—Bond Question May Come Into Court

Business will continue as usual at the state capital until the new administration takes office, according to officials.

The Industrial Commission, at a meeting late yesterday, continued preparations to sign up additional bonds and deliver more mortgages on which the bond issues are based. It was said that the Bank of North Dakota and other activities would continue to function the same as before the election.

Thomas Hall, secretary of state, refused to affix his name to mill and elevator bonds and real estate bonds. His reason for refusing to do so was that a mortgage on the mill and elevator property had not been filed, on which to base the bond issue and that additional real estate mortgages had not been delivered at the time.

It is expected that the bond issue matter may be brought to issue within a few days, when the supreme court sets the "Jamestown case" for argument. There are some independent members who oppose the sale of any more bonds until Mr. Nestos is in office, at a figure below par.

Would Deliver Bonds

It was said by a member of the Industrial Commission that Spitzer, Rorick and company have asked for the delivery of more bonds, and the commission intends to do this. Governor Frazier received the following telegram from Carl D. Thompson, who had been employed in the bond sale, reading as follows: "Shall I advise Cincinnati union to buy $200,000 of North Dakota bonds or not? Their board in session." Governor Frazier replied: "Heartily recommend North Dakota bonds." They must be purchased through Spitzer, Rorick and company of Toledo.

It was said that the Bank of North Dakota would continue to function as usual. There is considerable speculation at the capital as to the changes which may be made after the new administration takes office. Some independent members, taking their cue perhaps from the statements of R. A. Nestos, do not expect a house cleaning immediately, but expect many employees to be continued in their positions.

To Control Most Boards

The independent will control more of the statehouse and state patronage than did the Nonpartisans with the change. The only elected Nonpartisan officials in the statehouse will be Auditor Poindeux and Commissioner of Insurance Olesness. Two members of the railroad commission, Messrs. Milholland and McDonnell, are Nonpartisans.

There will be two independent members, Miss Nielson and Joseph A. Kitchen, on the board of administration. The other three members are appointive having been appointed by Governor Frazier. They are R. H. Muir, chairman; George Totter, Sr., and J. I. Cahill. The workmen's compensation commission is composed of three appointive members, all appointed by Governor Frazier, and the commissioner of agriculture and labor and the commissioner of insurance. Unless there should be a change in the present personnel, other than the substitution of Mr. Kitchen for Mr. Hagas, the Nonpartisans will still control this board. The independent will control all other boards.

RULING ASKED ON STATE HOMES

County Treasurer Says He Wants to Know Who is To Pay Tax

County Treasurer J. A. Flow said today that he would ask the county attorney for a ruling as to who shall pay taxes on state-built homes here. The question came up during the checking of property listed for taxes which are due R. B. Blakemore, former manager of the Homebuilders' association, held that the property owner must pay the taxes. The plan expected to be followed by county officials was that if the lot was in the name of the person for whom the house was built, the tax would be against him, if not, against the state and the state would pay taxes for all special improvements, etc.

An effort will be made to get an early ruling.

SOLDIERS CAN'T GET BACK MONEY

Washington, Nov. 2.—Soldiers who paid for the transportation of European brides to this country must stand the expense themselves, according to a ruling by (controller) General McFarland. The government, he held, will not reimburse soldiers for such outlay.

BECOMES MERE ONLOOKER

WOODROW WILSON, WHO WILL
KEEP HANDS OFF DISARMAMENT
CONFERENCE

WILSON TO KEEP HIS HANDS OFF

Former President Not to Interfere in Negotiations of Disarmament Conference

BY HARRY HUNT.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Woodrow Wilson, former president of the United States, has adopted a "hands off" policy with respect to the disarmament conference.

No utterance, touching on the affairs of the conference, will be voiced by the former chief executive—at least until the conference has had every opportunity to negotiate an agreement.

If negotiations fail, or if the agreements arrived at seem un-American, then—but not till then, will he inject his views into the discussion.

Should that occasion develop, the country might see just such another long-drawn fight in the senate as occurred over the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations, with the Democratic minority preventing the necessary two-thirds vote required for ratification of any conference treaties.

Such a contingency, however, is not expected even by the most bitter Democratic partisans. Wilson is said to be both sympathetic and hopeful as to the outcome of the Washington conference. For the aim of the conference goes at least part way toward the goal at which he aimed.

Wilson desires to keep altogether in the background personally during the conference.

It is as yet by no means sure that he will attend the ceremonies at the burial of the unknown soldier at Arlington on Nov. 11.

The former president certainly will take no part in the brilliant social functions. There will be no formal entertaining at the Wilson home during the conference.

Because of the intimate contact between Wilson and Lloyd George during the Paris conference, when both were members of the Council of Four, it is considered certain that the British premier will call and pay his respects to the former president.

But beyond that the former chief executive is expected to have no direct contact with the conferees.

GUMMER TRIAL WILL BE HELD IN VALLEY CITY

Granted Change of Venue From District Court in Cass County—Trial in January

Fargo, Nov. 3.—Trial of William Gummer, hotel clerk, on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Marie Wick, of Glyde, Minn., will be held in Valley City, in January next. Gummer today was granted a change of venue from Cass county district court and his case will be on the first of the Fargo county district court, which opens Jan. 3. In their application for the change Gummer's attorneys contended it would be impossible to obtain an unprejudiced trial.

TOWNLEY TAKES TYPEWRITER TO HIS JAIL CELL

Says That He Intends to Study
Physical Culture During His Incarceration

TIRED FROM LONG FIGHT NOMINATION IS POPULAR

Incarceration Ends Three Year
Battle in Courts Over Disloyalty Charge

(By Associated Press.)
Jackson, Minn., Nov. 3.—A C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League, spent last night in the Jackson County jail, beginning his sentence of 90 days for conspiracy to encourage disloyalty during the World War. His incarceration ended a three year legal battle started here and carried to the United States Supreme court.

Fatigued and haggard from the nerve strain of the North Dakota campaign and travel, Townley entered his cell after a 300 mile automobile drive from Fargo, via Minn. South Dakota and Pipestone. His chauffeur was Ray C. Felver of Fargo, formerly connected with the League. Their machine broke down at Pipestone and they got another to complete the trip. Townley and Felver reached Jackson at 3:30 p. m. At 3:40 o'clock the League president was behind the bars. Probably 25 adherents, including two carloads from Mitchell, South Dakota were here to greet him.

Townley's first act in jail was one of the flashes of generosity and warm heartedness which has brought so many friends. He obtained the release of a fellow prisoner, J. H. Puckman, 19 years old, of Round Lake town, ship, Puckman ran afloat of moonshine recently and was convicted of stealing an automobile while under the influence. He was fined $25 and costs. Puckman told Townley he had some money coming from an employer if he could get home and get it.

"I will lend the kid the money if you will take my check," Townley told Sheriff O. C. Lee. The sheriff was agreeable. Townley wrote a check for $50 and instructed the officers to take out the tire and costs and give Puckman the remainder to pay his fare home.

In an interview, Townley said he was tired and nervous from the stress of not only the North Dakota campaign but of hard work of several years. He said he would devote his time in jail to rest and study of physical culture.

"I'm only tired," replied Townley, when the newspaper men remarked that he looked thin. "It has been an awful strain these last four or five years. It has been a strenuous life. I have a set of books on physical culture and I am going to study them and devote some time to exercise and take care of myself. A man not doing active work should do that."

Meets Prosecutor

County Attorney E. H. Nicholas, who called to see him, was greeted with outstretched hands. "Hello, Nicholas," he said, "I am glad to see you. We have been in a long scrap, but I have no hard feeling."

MINERS REMAIN AWAY BECAUSE OF INJUNCTION

Continue Absence in Protest Against Discontinuing
"Check-off" System

Indianapolis, Nov. 3.—Practically every man in the Indiana coal fields was idle today as the result of a strike of union miners in protest against the injunction issued here Monday by Federal Judge A. B. Anderson prohibiting use of the "check-off" system of collecting union dues and assessments. Only a few small shafts were reported in operation and union employees of these are expected to walk out as soon as the "check-off" is discontinued by the operators.

ORDERED NOT TO QUIT

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 3.—More than a thousand coal miners at Carlinville and Stanton in Macoupin county went on strike today before they had received a telegram from state headquarters ordering them to stay at work. One hundred and fifty miners also struck at Hillsboro.

The percentage of possible sunshine in North Dakota during the month of October, just past, was 69 or 10 per cent above normal.

The temperature during the month also was 4 degrees above normal, with the highest temperature at 85. The lowest was 24. Precipitation was 1.58 inches. There were 14 absolutely clear days, nine partly cloudy and eight cloudy.

LEGION NAMES IOWAN AS ITS NEW COMMANDER

Hanford MacNider is Selected to Succeed John G. Emery in Place

HAS WELCOMED NINE GOVERNORS

Convention Adjourns After Completing Heavy Routine of Last Day Business

Convention Hall, Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 3.—The national convention of the American Legion adjourned here last night after electing Hanford MacNider of Mason City, Iowa, national commander, selecting officers, and adopting resolutions covering a wide range of subjects. The convention had been in session without a recess since early morning.

The election of Mr. MacNider to succeed John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, Michigan, was made unanimous after more than half of the state delegations had seconded his nomination, and three other candidates nominated. Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma City, Earl M. Cline of Nebraska City, Neb., and John F. Williams of Joplin, Mo., had withdrawn in his favor.

The following vice commanders were elected:

George L. Berry of Rogersville, Tenn.; H. Nelson Jackson of Burlington, Vermont; and Charles Kendrick of San Francisco, representing the army, and Raymond Bracket of Marble Head Mass., and J. A. McCormick of Fort Lyon, Col., of the navy.

The Rev. Earl Blackman of Chanute, Kan., a minister of the Christian church—disciples of Christ—was elected national chaplain.

A fight for the removal of the national headquarters from Indianapolis to Kansas City which the Missouri delegation promised in pre-convention campaigning to bring on the floor did not develop.

Nomination Popular

The selection of the Iowan was apparent when state after state delegation seconded his name. Toward the end candidates already nominated began withdrawing in his favor. Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma City was the first to withdraw his name. Earl M. Cline of Nebraska City then withdrew, and Colonel John F. Williams of Joplin, Mo., who also had been nominated, withdrew and asked MacNider's nomination be made unanimous. The crowd greeted the suggestions with shouts of approval.

The new commander was brought to the platform amid cheers and a big Iowa standard was raised over his head. He thanked the delegation for the honor and declared he realized his responsibility as chief of the Legion.

Mr. MacNider impressed upon the legionnaires that the strength of the legion rested within the local posts and not at national headquarters. He stated that his program would be headed by efforts to do everything possible for the disabled ex-soldiers.

"I stand ready for your commands," he said in closing.

MacNider's Record

Hanford MacNider, of Iowa, the newly elected national commander of the American Legion, was born on October 2, 1884, at Mason City, Iowa. He was graduated from Milton Academy, Milton, Mass., in June, 1903, and from Harvard college in 1911.

He served on the Mexican border as a first lieutenant with the Second Iowa infantry. After the outbreak of the World War he entered the Officers' training camp at Fort Snelling and was commissioned second lieutenant on August 15, 1917.

Mr. MacNider arrived in France on September 20, 1917, as an officer in the Ninth United States infantry. During his overseas service he was promoted successively until he finally attained the rank of Lieutenant Colonel of infantry. He took part in the Alsne, Marne St. Mihiel, and Meuse Argonne operations, part of the time in command of his regiment.

Mr. MacNider was wounded at St. Mihiel. He holds the following decorations:

Distinguished service cross and one cluster; Chevalier De Legion D'Honneur, Croix De Guerre (five citations), five palms, one gold and one silver star; Fourragere and the Italian war cross. He was given three citations in general orders.

Before his departure from France he served with the Second Division headquarters.

Since his return to civilian life he has been prominent in legion work in his state, having acted as department commander.

Mr. MacNider is a banker, and is unmarried.

RUSS CHILDREN FACING FAMINE FLEE INTO WOODS, LIVE ON HERBS

Riga, Latvia, Nov. 3.—Children are living in the woods and fields like young animals in some parts of the famine district, says an official wireless dispatch from Moscow. They are little waifs who fled from famine-stricken villages and subsist on roots and grass. When adults approach they flee, showing every evidence of fear.

Overcrowding of children's homes has been carried so far in the Syrian and Libia districts that some of the inspections are sheltering four times as many children as they have accommodations for. In these places children like turnips, in country districts are available.

Famine families are jumping into rivers and cases are reported of parents strangling their children rather than see them die by starvation. Said the dispatch which was the first report of distinctly migration.

NESTOS HOLDS HIS MAJORITY ABOVE 4,000

Unofficial Figures Place Figure at 4,037—Sveinbjorn Johnson High Man

"R. A. Nestos" majority over Lynn J. Frazier for governor is 4,011, according to returns available today from all except one precinct in Dunn county. An official report of the vote in that precinct, which will not be available till the county canvassing boards meets for the reason that the return is sealed, is to the effect that the precinct gave Nestos a majority of 36, which would make the unofficial majority for Nestos 4,037.

The vote in all but one precinct is 11,290 for Nestos and 107,278 for Frazier. The majority for Sveinbjorn Johnson for attorney general is 7,015, with five precincts in Stark, one in Dunn and four in Emmons county not accounted for. The vote is 112,974 for Johnson, and 105,059 for Wm. Lemke. Joseph A. Kitchen, independent, has a majority of 5,359 for commissioner of agriculture and labor over John N. Hagan, leaguer. The vote is 110,917 for Kitchen, and 105,458 for Hagan, with the same 10 precincts missing in the attorney general vote also missing in the commissioner contest.

With 133 precincts not accounted for all inflated laws were running behind. The remaining 133 precincts gave a league majority on the vote for governor, indicating majorities against the laws of from 2,000 to 7,000.

CANCER FIGHT HERE FRIDAY

Meeting to be Held in Auditorium Friday Evening at 8
p. m.

The American Society for the Control of Cancer is a league enlisting the principal agencies and individuals in the United States and Canada who are striving to make headway against this formidable disease by a campaign of public education to make wider use of present knowledge in its prevention and cure.

Open warfare by open discussion will mean the prevention of many needless deaths from cancer. The common belief that cancer is a hopeless malady is partly due to the fact that cases of successful treatment are frequently concealed by the patient and his family, while cases of failure (too often resulting from delay) are apt to become common knowledge.

"Cancer" is not inherited. It is not certain even that a tendency to cancer is inherited. Cancer is so frequent that simply by the law of chance there may be many cases in some families, and this gives rise to much needless worry about inheriting the disease.

Cancer is not a communicable disease. It is not possible to "catch" cancer from one who has it.

Attend the meeting at the auditorium on Friday, November 4, at 8 p. m. Admission is free.

St. Paul, Nov. 3.—A well planned robbery netted two men approximately $30,000 in diamonds shortly before 8 A. M. from the store of A. I. Shapiro and Sons in the center of the downtown district.

Two men met L. H. Deeny, assistant manager of the store, and asked him for a ride downtown. After Deeny had driven a block one of the men thrust a pistol against him and ordered him to drive quietly to the store where they forced him to open a safe and deliver the diamonds.

Fifty thousand dollars worth of diamonds were taken from the store in a similar holdup a year ago.

CONVENTION OF NONPARTISANS TO BE CALLED

Will Probably Hold Meeting Yet
This Month in Fargo, Says
Liederbach

Declares That 10,000 Leaguers
Failed to Vote While all
Opposition Did Vote

The Nonpartisan league leaders will hold a convention, probably this month, to decide upon a future course, according to A. H. Liederbach, state chairman, who visited the state capital here.

"We probably will have a convention this month, very likely in Fargo," said Liederbach. "We will call in delegates and lay important matters before them."

Mr. Liederbach did not think that the league convention which, according to the Courier-News, would be held in February, after A. C. Townley has completed his incarceration, will be delayed until that time.

The new administration will not be entirely free from attack. Mr. Liederbach said that "we will continue with the fight as if nothing had happened," and added that the new administration would be expected to keep its campaign promises, but he said he didn't place any great confidence in the hope that the administration would succeed in carrying out the league platform.

Over-confidence upon the part of leaguers was declared responsible for the defeat by Mr. Liederbach. He declared that 10,000 leaguers had not gone to the polls while all of the opposition vote had got out.

The Courier-News will be continued by Mr. Liederbach said. The Publishers National Service Bureau, he said, has been liquidating for months and is still doing so.

He expressed the belief that there would be no contest of the election, a view generally accepted at the capital.

"We feel that as long as our people have spoken and didn't come out we should stand by the result," he said. "Our people didn't come out and do their duty, and the others did get out."

Mr. Liederbach, who was quoted before the election as saying that he would spend the winter in California, said he was uncertain whether he could get away.

NORTH DAKOTA A POOR HAVEN FOR AUTO THIEVES

North Dakota proved a poor haven for auto thieves during the last days of October. Three were caught in the state and requisitions sending them back to face trial were issued by Governor Frazier. The last pair, John and Joseph Slovick, of Cuyahoga County Ohio, stole a car valued at $1500, October 17. They were arrested a few days later at Hillsboro in Trail County and the requisition of Ohio was honored by Governor Frazier yesterday.

MOTHER, FOUR KIDDIES, BURN

Toledo, O., Nov. 3.—A mother and four children, three girls and a boy were burned to death shortly after 6 o'clock this morning when fire destroyed the fruit store and apartment of Wolf Greenburg here. The dead are Mrs. Greenburg, the mother, Eva, 16, Anna, 3, David, 6 and Leah, 9.

JUDGE BURR IS NAMED TO HEAR THIRTY CASES

Judge A. G. Affidavits of prejudice against Judge Moellring had been filed.

THIS DUEL WAS NOTHING BUT A GUN PRACTICE

Rome, Nov. 3.—Count Pietro Rousciani and Lieut. Atobelli, both of this city, recently engaged in a duel that is believed to have set the record for small gun practice. They faced each other on the field of honor and began hostilities, which continued until they had exchanged 25 rounds, neither one having suffered serious damage. In the last seconds and the surgeons in attendance intervened and stopped the fusillade.

The two men, before retiring, declared themselves reconciled.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY LUCHEON OF ROTARIANS

Geo. Will and Carl Nelson Explain Important Industries of Bismarck

Halloween favors and stories of the pranks the Rotarians played in their boyhood days, followed by the weekly luncheon of the Bismarck Rotary club at Patterson's hall, Wednesday, A. W. Lucas, Rev. Postelwaite, P. R. Fields and Dr. Schaefer told of the pranks they played, but it was left to former Senator McFarley to tell of a unique plan to check boyish enthusiasm upon such occasions. Justice Christianson was called upon to pass sentence upon the members as atonement for the sins of their youth. Ex-circusman judicial clemency, he placed them all upon probation.

Explains Seed Business
George Will, head of the Will Seed company gave a very interesting account of the problems of his business. He told of the painstaking experiments to produce a high type of seeds that would give a maximum of production. Bismarck has the largest seed house in the state and products put up here enter many countries in the various corners of the globe. Mr. Will is a well known scientist in his line and his address has been listened to with great interest. It was in line with a policy of "know your own town," being carried out in the weekly meetings.

Produce Business
The produce business was next discussed by Carl Nelson, head of the Northern Produce Co. He told of the strides made in the dairy business in this section and sketched the growth of the company's business. More than 1,400,000 pounds of butter have been produced and more than 12,000 cases of eggs handled. Most of this produce originates within 100 miles of Bismarck. He declared that great improvement had been made in the quality of poultry stock under the campaign of education. Mr. Nelson said that it had been urged that this center paid lower prices than others for its products because there were not competitive concerns. This was false, he declared, because competition here was intensely keen as Bismarck is on the main line of the Northern Pacific and the producers in this area enjoy an extremely low rate to the big primary markets of the nation.

Acting For The Town Clerks
Upon motion of Henry Duenkeland, it was agreed that all merchants would cooperate in advertising the American Legion show to be given Nov. 11, by referring to the attraction in their regular advertising.
Mr. E. P. Quinn urged Rotarians to attend the meeting at the Auditorium next Friday evening under the auspices of the Society for the Prevention of Cancer.
Next Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple, a meeting will be held for the Rotarians and their guests. The ideals and the spirit of Rotary will be explained and exemplified.

WELFARE WORK OF RED CROSS IS DESCRIBED

Representatives From Slope Counties at Meeting Here Tell of Undertakings

Discussion on nursing service was reopened at the Red Cross regional conference yesterday afternoon. Several chapters reported on the service being rendered in their respective counties, special emphasis being placed on the health educational work. Discussion brought out importance of employing for a county nursing service only the graduate nurse who has had special Public Health training and experience.
The Slope counties reported on the way in which their chapters have dealt with the relief problem. Three counties had employed welfare workers. Often the necessary help was medical care of children whose parents, due to drought conditions, were unable to provide it. Miss Ruth Kolling, welfare worker for Burleigh county, told of the various problems she is helping to solve. She pictured the people who come to her, orphans, half orphans, kids from the police court, unmarried mothers, dependent and delinquent children from the juvenile court and the aged. Most of these people are without a normal home life. Her effort is to learn what is needed to make normal living possible and to help them attain it. Occasionally material relief is necessary.
Mr. Young, chairman of the state Children's Code Commission, asked for the cooperation of the Red Cross chapters in helping the commission to obtain the facts in regard to Child Life in North Dakota.

Program of the Juniors
Mr. Schaefer of central division described in detail how the Junior Red Cross lives up to its motto "Happy Childhood the World Over" through service to other children. Juniors are organized by school rooms. Each room

BABY CRIBS BUT NO TIPS! IT'S THE RULE OF WOMAN'S HOTEL

YOU MAY BREAKFAST IN BED AND THERE'S A CRIB FOR BABY.

By N. E. A. Service.
Washington, Nov. 2.—Washington, city of tips, is to have a tipless hotel. And that isn't the only "less" about it. It will be manless as well. The Grace Dodge Hotel, opened October 19, is intended to demonstrate that an up-to-date hotel can flourish without the accompaniment of male servants with their hands out!
From the woman manager down through the women clerks, chefs, chambermaids and porters, the staff and the help will be—if the plan works—so high-class and so well paid and lodged that not even the least of the well-girls will have any excuse for taking the tips the management forbids.
But why the curious man ask, may only women have these tipless privileges? Has the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, which owns and runs the hotel, a grudge against men? Not the least in the world! But it believes that the time is ripe for an experiment in woman psychology. There are hotels for men, and hotels for men and women, but in some ways a woman traveling alone can be better served in an all-woman hotel.
But it won't be babyless. There is one "less" you find in many high-class apartment-houses and hotels that doesn't exist here at Grace Dodge. There are special suites where Mother will find a nice crib and sanitary devices for preparing their Majesties' milk.
A man will be admitted to the first floor, as callers, to admire and envy, but above that they may not go. On the first floor they may test the restaurant. They may sit in the lounge, which is both wide and lofty, planned to give full scope to the eloquence of women's conventions meeting there. They may observe well groomed women guests emerging from the commodious vanity parlors, and they may even profit by the knowledge of the lady information clerk, who has political Washington at her tongue's tip and will tell anybody anything they want to know on a moment's notice. But they won't see the best features, for those are in the upper regions.
They are in a waiting room on every floor, where guests may cheat the high cost of traveling by doing their own pressing with electric irons furnished by the hotel; shampoo basins where guests may launder their hair; sunny parlors where women can talk endlessly in the serene knowledge that there's no man creature anywhere around; all outside bedrooms with windows mostly trained upon the capitol, so that lady lobbyists, having their breakfasts in bed, can keep one eye upon the dome under which their congressmen perform.

Dads," promises to be one of the best offerings of The Rainbow Girls during their engagement. It has more laughs than rubber has stretches—a bee has hums, a Brazil has nuts, a gum has chews, a cherine has Johns, Bermuda has onions, or a worm has wriggles. Some fun!

AT BISMARCK.
"What Love Will Do," a William Fox photoplay co-starring Edna Murphy and Johnnie Walker, will open at the Bismarck theater tonight for a two days' run. It is announced as an exciting romantic drama with an exceedingly strong love interest, providing the two young stars with excellent opportunities to sustain and add to their reputation as "ideal lovers of the screen."
The picture tells the story of a young man soured by the knowledge that his mother deserted him as an infant, and his father, dying, left him penniless to struggle with the world. He seeks pleasure in the company of toughs, eventually ruling the gang by his superior ability as a fist fighter, and assumes a disrespectful attitude toward all women. Then the "one girl" comes into his life in strange and dramatic fashion, and marked changes in his nature gradually take place. At length he takes up civic betterment work with all the force and energy formerly devoted to an entirely different sort of activity; but his old fighting spirit and ability prove of service when two robbers try to take church funds from him.

FIGURES ARE HER HOBBY

By N. E. A. Service.
Omaha, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Mollie E. Chestnut, it is said, holds the world's record as woman mathematical compiler.

Mrs. Chestnut's latest compilation is a carload shipper's price table, upon which she worked seven months, writing figures eight to twelve hours every day. It cost her $60 at 25 cents an hour to have the table copied after the compilations were made. The table covers 120 pages with 1200 compilations to the page.
"I enjoyed every minute of it," said Mrs. Chestnut. "I was proving up on a homestead, and would have been very lonely had I not had such a pleasant pastime."
Mrs. Chestnut has also compiled crib and bin actuarial, a silo table, giving the full contents of every two feet to the bottom, for any diameter, and a hay tonnage table, giving number of tons in both circular and loaf stacks.
She is the inventor of several types, wick attachments and of an improved garden spray.

ROSS NO LONGER FEARS "RACE SUICIDE"

By NEA Service.
Madison, Wis., Nov. 2.—Big families of the olden times are out of the question today.
This is the opinion of Prof. E. A. Ross, head of the University of Wisconsin Sociology Department, who, 20 years ago, coined the expression "race suicide."
"The nation today is facing enough population by reduction in death rate, compared with the birth rate to meet the situation which 20 years ago was considered alarming," says Prof. Ross.
That is why he now is in favor of small families.
"Nobody, 20 years ago, could have foreseen that life would be saved as we are saving it," Ross said. "Certain diseases that reap a heavy death toll have been successfully combated. As a result, the death rate has fallen off one-quarter since 1905."
"Under the circumstances large families would make our population grow so fast that starvation would eventually result."
Prof. Ross' three sons are an indication as to what he thinks is the proper sized family.

MANY ANSWER SLOGAN QUERY

"What Comes After the Purchase Price?" Causes Nation to Talk

What comes after the purchase price? Ever since this cryptic phrase began appearing in the national magazines, daily newspapers, and on billboards from one end of the country to the other, Dodge Brothers, who propounded the question, have been receiving an incessant stream of comments. Some were from critics who questioned the prudence of flaunting a "negative suggestion" before the world. Others were from admirers who wanted to say that it was the "best attention-getting slogan they had ever seen." Hundreds came from Dodge Brothers Car owners who hastened to venture the opinion that "satisfaction" or "dependability" or "low upkeep cost" would soon be flashed across the country as the official answer.

In the opinion of those who had opportunity to see all these comments, however, the masterpiece, the true summarization of all the impressions expressed in the mass of letters and marginal notations, which reached Dodge Brothers, was an editorial which appeared in the Ohio Daily of Elyria, O. Judge its merit for yourself. It follows in part:
"A well known car has been currying

LAHR MOTOR SALES CO.

What comes after the purchase price? The automobile is a tremendous boon for business. It has undoubtedly kept down the cost of transportation, and it is possible to get packages and freight there on time, and it simply annihilates distance and time, so that the person living three miles from church is but six or seven minutes away. It turns every country town-ship into a neighborhood, and it transforms the city back into the country. It unites families for a joyful holiday, which cannot be estimated in value, and it brings many out into God's great out of doors, and gives everybody a prospect in life, which they knew nothing about heretofore.
"Much of this other expense can be avoided. To be sure, you must have a license to run the car, and while membership in the automobile association is a valuable thing, you can live without it. You do not have to get a spot light. Punctures do not happen as often as they used to; in fact we have driven five thousand miles without a puncture, and there are people who have driven for 15 or 20 years and never had a collision, and of course speeding should not be indulged in in any case.
"There are some things a family should have before they have an automobile, but we do believe that the automobiles have kept families together, have dissolved approaching divorce cases in the thin air, and have been an inexhaustible joy to the home.
"Yes, the automobile is worth what it costs to every family which can afford to have it. After the purchase price, is business, pleasure, union, mingling with others more frequently, and brotherhood. As the fellow said about marriage, it costs more than to be single, but it's worth it."
An elephant rarely sleeps more than five hours a day.

PROCLAMATION

ARMISTICE AND DISARMAMENT DAY

Armistice Day, 1921, has an unusual significance; in addition to commemorating the end of the World War it marks the opening of the great Disarmament Conference at Washington.

The people are tired of wars and war preparations, and are insisting on a program of peace. The men who gather at the conference will be expected to work and vote for such a program. God grant that they may use the opportunity that lies in their power to end so much of the world's woe and misery by taking steps towards disarmament. It would not be possible to establish a more fitting memorial to our brave soldiers and sailors who gave or offered their all for humanity's sake in the great war.

Therefore, I, Lynn J. Frazier, Governor of the State of North Dakota, call upon all our people to observe FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11th, 1921, as ARMISTICE AND DISARMAMENT DAY and ask that that day be dedicated to services and exercises befitting so noteworthy an occasion. Especially let the churches, which have all endorsed disarmament be open for service of prayer on that morning. Also let us work and pray that ambition, greed and selfish interests of men and nations may have no place in the conference, and that this day may mark the beginning of ultimate and triumphant world peace.

Given at the Executive Office, and sealed with the Great Seal of North Dakota, this 2nd Day of November. A. D., 1921.

International Meeting of Prohibition Officers Suggests Plan of Action

Regina, Sask., Nov. 3.—Government on the Canadian and United States side of the international boundary will be asked to supplement one another's liquor laws in order that rum-running may be further curbed. It was decided at a convention of international prohibition officers here.

The American government will be asked not to grant any more permits for the shipment of liquor across the Canadian line except with the consent of the provincial authorities affected. On the other hand the Canadian government will be asked not to release liquor from bond to be shipped across to the American side where it can be sold legally.

One of the features of this session was the statement that government control of liquor in British Columbia had not curtailed the bootlegging industry in that province. The statement being made that 40,000 cases of liquor had been shipped into the coast provinces from Saskatchewan liquor houses since the government of that province had assumed control of the trade and that this liquor was being used to ship into the United States and to supply the bootlegging industry in other Canadian provinces.

RESULTS OF RECALL ELECTION

In the election of R. A. Nestos, Sveinbjorn Johnson and Joseph A. Kitchen to succeed Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Attorney General William Lemke and Commissioner of Agriculture John Hagan and in the complete defeat of the I. V. A. laws are reflected the most unique survival of candidates over a burdensome platform ever recorded in the political annals of North Dakota. The tables were completely turned at the recall election. Last November, the I. V. A. laws were successful, but a majority of their candidates were defeated. Such is the irony of popular referendums; such are the mysterious ways the voters work their wonders to perform.

No one is shedding tears over the repudiated program laws. The victory is being heralded as a tribute to the personal integrity of the three men selected to put into effect the campaign promises made to the electorate of North Dakota in the recall.

Every loyal North Dakota citizen should cooperate with the successful candidates in their efforts to promote the general welfare of the best state in the union, much maligned at times by a kind of publicity that should cease from this hour.

Mr. Nestos' greatest task is to heal the wounds occasioned by the recall election and to be the governor of all the people, not the servant of a political oligarchy or the pliant tool of designing politicians who will be seeking to use him as they have always importuned new incumbents in office. He owes no debt to the political theorists who wrote the platform of modified socialism because he was stronger than the platform. He was elected; the program was defeated. The repudiation is stronger than the vote indicates. It is easier to vote "yes" than "no." This was demonstrated a year ago. Mr. Nestos and his colleagues were elected because the people wanted a change of management. They desire the new officials to audit the books of the corporation and report their findings. Until that report is given to the people in all fairness to the retiring officials, it is just as well to reserve judgment as to personal culpability and to detect the crime before imposing the punishment.

I. V. A. LAWS DEFEATED

With the platform defeated, Mr. Nestos is confronted with a different issue than he would have been had the laws been passed. Let us take up the mandates of the people of this sovereign state in the order they were imposed at the recall election.

First and foremost the voters decided against any more bond issues to pile up taxes in foolish ventures of state ownership. The program proposed the issuance of $7,750,000 in bonds for the following purposes.

Five million to liquidate the Bank of North Dakota.

Two and one-half million to complete the mill and elevator at Grand Forks.

A quarter of a million to wind up the affairs of the Home Builders association.

In repudiating this constitutional amendment, the voters apparently have decided, as the Tribune has always contended, that it is poor public policy to put more of the taxpayers money into proven failures. Mr. Nestos would be warranted in the mandate laid down at the recall election in abandoning the mill and elevator at Grand Forks and the Drake institution. Under the mandate as laid down by the people at the polls last Friday, these ventures should be salvaged without delay and what is left should be restored to the state treasury.

Governor Preus' addresses from one end of the state to the other were as responsible as anything for the repudiation of any more bond issues to engage in experiments of state socialism. The voters took his argument home and evidently have put their foot down upon going forward with state socialism.

The Tribune many months ago urged the scrapping of the entire program of state industries. Now the voters have decided the issue emphatically by voting against a bond issue to continue the losing venture at Drake and what must be a losing venture at Grand Forks if the doors of that institution are ever opened. Mr. Nestos can reduce taxes in no other way than by abandoning state ownership.

Of course there will be those who will not agree with this interpretation of the vote on the initiative laws. The I. V. A. and nonpartisan league members who favor going forward with the program and more especially the league advocates, will contend that the voters refused to amend or repeal any phase of the original program and that the mill and elevator projects should go forward as originally contemplated.

The Tribune can hardly endorse this view, because Mr. Nestos emphatically said that he was against socialism and committed to the mill and elevator only so far as the I. V. A. law bound him. Now that that law has been repudiated, it is a logical if not a political deduction that the people are against shooting any more tax money to the birds.

In any event, the speculation is interesting and presents a problem that The Tribune believes can be solved to the satisfaction of the voters and especially to that portion of them who pay taxes if the whole industrial program is promptly liquidated and the money saved, if any, turned back into the general fund to reduce taxes. On the other hand if losses develop, after an examination of the books, the taxpayers might as well prepare for increased levies to pay for the socialistic orgy of state ownership.

TIRED OF RAINBOW CHASING

Why did the people of the state decline to venture more into state socialism modified as it is by the I. V. A. laws? The majority of the people of this state have finally come to the conclusion that state ownership will bring no relief. They are turning away from theories of state ownership. The Tribune has always been a relentless foe of state socialism whether it bore a league, a Townley or an I. V. A. label. North Dakota's agrarian interests, representing 85 per cent of the population of the state, are accepting gradually the theory of cooperation as was so skillfully explained by Governor Preus. Mr. Nestos has a wonderful opportunity to promote cooperation as an antidote for public ownership. That this law was defeated is gratifying to the Tribune as it has been practically alone in opposing the I. V. A. laws. North Dakota under the leadership of R. A. Nestos can liquidate state socialism now unembarrassed by the passage of any conflicting laws. The Tribune hopes Mr. Nestos will do this very job and do it well. In it, he should have the earnest cooperation of every taxpayer who is seeking relief from present conditions.

ELECTION LAWS LOST

Next in order of repudiation are the election laws. Public disapproval of them is more emphatic than repudiation of any of the other laws. It is needless to point out their inconsistency now. Sufficient that they have been defeated and the long suffering tax payer saved the expense of an extra election and those who still believe in party rule can continue to function as Republicans, Democrats, Socialists, Bull Moosers, or under any party label that meets with their views. To curb this right would be to strike a blow at a system that has worked out much better than the many substitutes devised by the theorists for group action in lieu of party control and expression.

The depository law was defeated not so much because the people opposed its general intent, but the voters in North Dakota have shown a rare discrimination in this recall election. They are hesitant to legislate in a hurry at the polls in a matter of such great importance. They bore in mind the law providing for the examination of the Bank of North Dakota and other loosely drawn laws submitted at the November election. This repudiation should end the perennial submission of laws whose authorship is in doubt and the terms of which may be vague and workmanship faulty. Better keep that function where it belongs—in the state legislature.

North Dakota farmers sensed political trickery in the law changing the composition of the industrial commission and gave it short shrift. They sensed the fact as did every thinking voter that this law was deliberately framed to defeat the will of the people had Frazier, Hagan and Lemke been elected instead of Nestos, Johnson and Kitchen. If Mr. Nestos and his colleagues had not been elected and this law had passed, the industrial commission would have been composed of John Steen, John Hagan and Thomas Hall. The victory of Frazier, Hagan and Lemke would have been an endorsement of their administration. As it happened that endorsement was not given, but the clever intent of the law was to secure control of the industrial management, because past experience revealed that people usually passed laws when they declined to endorse candidates through confusion or ignorance of the issues. In this instance the voters decided to play fair and not hamper the successful candidates by a law that was absolutely unnecessary and framed for purely partisan reasons. Except for the clause directed against the men the law was designed to get, the measure might have possessed merit, but the futility of tacking on a special application was never better demonstrated than in the defeat of this law by a discerning electorate. The voters of the state are to be commended for the fairness they showed in defeating this and the other propaganda acts.

SURPRISE OF ELECTION

Probably the surprise of the election was the defeat of the rural credits law and the refusal of the farmers to turn the key in the Bank of North Dakota. They voted against liquidating the bank. Of course now that the voters have spoken on this issue there is nothing to do but acquiesce. The election of Mr. Nestos gives him access to the books of that institution and he should be able in due time to tell the people of the state what should be done. No one wants to continue a losing venture whether it is the public or the private money at stake.

The Tribune has always contended that the state should get out of every kind of business. It should not be in the banking business any more than the mill and elevator business except as a bank functions to strengthen the financial structure of the state as the Federal Reserve system administers to the banks of the nation who become members.

Mr. Nestos is confronted by an embarrassing situation, as the main drive was made by the Independents against the Bank of North Dakota. It was generally supposed that if the League officials were defeated that the Bank of North Dakota would contribute more largely to their defeat than any other factor. But the people of the state have voted against the immediate closing of the bank, leaving the problem for Mr. Nestos to work out. The present law enables Mr. Nestos to limit the bank's operations as he pleases and The Tribune believes that if accorded the patience and cooperation of the people, he will be able to work out a plan eminently satisfactory—that is if the politicians will let him and he has the courage to overrule them where the best interests of the people are paramount.

The election of Mr. Nestos, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Kitchen then gives them a direct mandate from the people to reduce taxes as speedily as possible. If admonishes them to tell the people who have money to invest that North Dakota wants no more experimentation with state owned business ventures. Each bond issue is a first mortgage against every parcel of property in the state. The voters have said to Mr. Nestos, we will not tie your hands by any program measures, but let you wade in and

Berton Braley's Daily Poem To the American Legion

You are the heart and spirit of our Youth— Our splendid Youth that helped to save the world, You fought for decency and faith and truth, Into that conflict all your strength was hurled; Upon the reddened soil your comrades died, Fallen in battle that a Cause might live; Freely you gave your all with laughing pride— And now your country asks you still to give!

Give of your hopes and dreams the better part, That in this nation which you served so well Dreamers and doers shall again take heart! Give of your faith, that in each soul may dwell A faith responsive to the country's need; Give of your vision, so that we may gaze Beyond the mists of selfishness and greed Into the glory of the coming days!

Give! Give! Your service but began with war, Our future's in the hollow of your hands, What you have done no gold can pay you for— You're called to service under new commands; Duty well done brings great duties still, "Peace hath her victories" supremely great, Tomorrow's Destiny is—what YOU will, For you are Youth, blithe Conqueror of Fate!

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts

The Twins looked in every direction for the missing wives of the Wigglefin gentlemen who had sent word of their troubles to Cap'n Pennywinkle; then they came to the house of Mr. Rock-Fish.

Mr. Rock-Fish jerked open his front door when the kiddies knocked, and began: "Well! This is a nice time for you to be getting home—!" he stopped, perfectly amazed, because he had expected to see his belated wife, never dreaming that it was anything so queer as the Twins. He'd never seen the like of them before. But he was civil. He stopped waving his little fins so wildly, and beating his tail around, and calmed himself down. "How-do-you-do," he said. "I thought you were Annie."

"Annie!" cried Nancy. "Who's she?" "Oh! my wife," answered little Mr. Rock-Fish in surprise. "Didn't you know? But come on in. If we're going to keep on talking, I may as well be working!" And he opened his door still wider.

"How do you work?" asked Nick. "I didn't know fishes worked." "If you'll come in, I'll show you," said the little Wigglefin gentleman with dignity. So the Twins followed him.

Pretty soon they came to a ring of little pellets, and inside it were about a million tiny dots of things too small for name. Mr. Rock-Fish swam right over to these queer things and began to fan them with his fins, faster and faster, until he looked like a tiny threshing machine or airplane or something like that. "What are you doing?" asked Nancy.

"Fanning air into the eggs so the children will come out all right," said Mr. Rock-Fish, patting. "I've been here all day. Don't you think it's time Annie was home?" They thought so and said: "We'll go and hunt her right away," they said.

SHE KNOWS AFTER 20 YEARS.
A cold, even when it has developed a hacking cough, difficult breathing, sleepless nights, raw throat and sore lungs—even then a cold yields quick-put the house in order as you outlined in your campaign speeches. Particularly do the results urge you, Mr. Nestos, to establish a credit in the markets of the east that will bring money to North Dakota in sufficient volume to relieve present conditions and ease the burdens of the North Dakota farmers and businessmen.

The only way that credit will be established is to tell the world that this state is through with socialism. Mr. Nestos can restore government in North Dakota to those several functions that obtained before North Dakota started upon its socialistic venture. He can and The Tribune trusts he will do all of this in a spirit of fairness to the minority as well as to the majority. The popular mandate is not overwhelming, and we have Mr. Nestos' word for it that there are to be no foolish reprisals, but just an honest effort to make North Dakota a better place to live in.

In these laudatory efforts, leaguers and anti-leaguers should be able to join hands. Some bitterness will be a natural aftermath of the recall election. There will be a large and active minority at work to embarrass the administration. Mr. Nestos can win friends in that minority by the manner in which he takes up the reins of government.

No governor of the state ever tackled a harder task. It is the duty of every citizen to cooperate to end the bitterness and the strife that have injured the state. When North Dakota composes its own differences, it can secure the consideration that is due her from the outside world. No man can say the financial backing the state will secure through Nestos' administration. Just how he handles the job and the rest of the state responds will determine that.

It is the Tribune's only hope that these new officials will acquit themselves like men and not violate the promises or pledges made upon the stump. Their acts will be watched more closely than those of any official ever sitting in the state house. Just as to all and malice, to none should guide their every official act.

Nicholas, "and I feel the same way you do. I prosecuted vigorously, but I was only trying to do my duty." "I know it," said Townley. "You won out fairly and here I am." Townley brought a typewriter with him and asked if he could write his wife who is said to be in jail at Salt Lake, Utah. Sheriff Lee informed him that he would be free to correspond as he pleased.

Townley drove here from Fargo by a secret route, to avoid the public gaze aboard a train, or by motorizing thru towns which might learn of his coming. He left Fargo at 4 p. m. Tuesday, after giving out a report that he would go to the Twin Cities by train. After the train left without him it was stated that he would drive via Alexandria and Winnetka, Feltner and he left for Milbank.

League officers were advised of Townley's real route and the probable time of his arrival here. Shortly before he got in a party which included George Griffith, state manager of the League; Geo. D. Brewster, organizer; F. B. Wood, Minneapolis, a member of the League executive committee; Vince Day, Minneapolis's attorney; H. O. Michel, Townley's secretary, and others appeared.

From Mitchell and other places came ten League enthusiasts including two women in automobiles. This party was in charge of Tom Ayres, South Dakota manager; Miss A. L. Daily the League's candidate for superintendent of public instruction in South Dakota was along. There were also a few Leaguers from Jackson and nearby counties who stood in little groups about the jail awaiting their leader.

BARON SHOT BY BOLSHEVISTS

Petrograd, Nov. 3.-Baron Michel Ungern-Sternberg, former anti-Bolshevik leader in Siberia who was sentenced and shot at Novo Nikolaevsk in September for cooperating with Col. Semonoff in an attempt to overthrow the Far Eastern Republic, met his death calmly.

When he appeared before the military court which condemned him, he wore a yellow Mongol robe upon the shoulders of which were the capulettes of a general. He admitted all the charges against him, except the one that he was cooperating with Japan.

In a low calm voice he replied to all questions asked by the court-martial. He modestly related the romantic career he has had since he began working with Semonoff to combat Bolshevik control of Central Siberia and told of their agreement with the Huktuks of Mongolia, at Treva, whereby an autonomous state was to be maintained much as it was under the old Russian empire.

But the Mongols tired of the agreement with Semonoff and his Cossack hands, who were finally forced to move across into Siberia to get food. There the troops Baron Ungern-Sternberg was commanding met overwhelming forces from the Far Eastern Republic's army and he was captured.

MINNIE NEILSON IN CHALLENGE TO OTHER STATES

Special Challenge to Iowa, Claiming N. D. Would Take Hawk-eye State's Position

FEW ILLITERATES HERE

Stopping in her office here yesterday for a few hours between her trips to the different County Institutes of the state, Miss Minnie J. Neilson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, hung out a challenge to Iowa, as well as to the United States at large, claiming that North Dakota would take the place of the Hawkeye state as the most illiterate state in the union.

Enthusiastic from six weeks meetings with the teachers of the state, Miss Neilson issued her challenge with a full assurance of the cooperation of the instructors who must bear the brunt of the work.

"Iowa has the smallest percentage of illiterates of any state," said Miss Neilson, in discussing the program for the elimination of illiteracy in the state, "but North Dakota is second and is not far behind. It will take work, but the enthusiasm with which the teachers of the state have accepted the opportunity to place North Dakota in the illiterate leadership of the nation if the teachers can get in touch with the illiterates."

The first part of the program, and this has been in progress for some time, is an awakening of the people of the state to the need and to the patriotic opportunity before them. America never has taken education seriously. The war developed the great lack of prepared men, and the actual illiteracy within the United States.

The census just taken did much, also, to open the eyes of the people to the actual conditions. New York thought itself without illiterates; but last year's figures developed that almost half a million men and women there could not read or write.

"The second part of the program will be finding the people who cannot read and write and getting them to accept the instruction offered. The work of the instructors will be voluntary as funds are not available for the creation of schools. A small amount of money is available from both county and state funds, but this is not to be relied upon to wage war upon illiteracy within the state. In many counties the illiterates are so widely scattered that it will be a problem of one instructor and one pupil. In the counties where the illiterates are gathered in the larger towns, numbers can be gathered together for instruction."

That the problem before the instructors of the state, largely is that of adult education, is shown by the 1920 census. The United States considers a person illiterate if he is ten years of age and cannot read or write any language. By these standards, North Dakota has 9,937 illiterates, including its whites and negroes, the latter, however being a negligible figure. Indian illiteracy is not considered in the state figures. Of the total illiterates of the state 9,373 are over 21 years of age.

Few of the North Dakota illiterates are born of native parents. A comparatively small number are native born of foreign or mixed parentage. The figures are:

Illiterates whose parents were native born	325
Illiterates of mixed parentage	972
Foreign born illiterates	7,328
Negroes	10

Included within the mixed parentage are those whose parents are both foreign born, or those with one parent foreign born and the other native born. Statistics concerning the parentage of about one thousand are lacking.

The illiterates of North Dakota, according to the 1920 census are distributed by counties as follows:

COSTS LITTLE TO GET MARRIED IN NEW REPUBLIC

Matrimonial Agencies in Berlin Doing a Rushing Business Pairing 'Em Up

REGISTRATION 10 MARKS

Berlin, Nov. 3.-The numerous matrimonial bureaus in Berlin, where a spouse may be had for the payment of 10 marks registration fee, are doing a rushing business. The advertising columns of the newspapers are being utilized, "prospects" are being bombarded with letters and circulars extolling the advantages and virtues of the several bureaus are being scattered broadcast.

The marriage literature makes its principal appeal to the "home-loving instinct" of men, who are in much greater demand in the marriage market than women.

The press agents, however, are not always discriminating or discreet in the selection of "eligible males." One bureau sent a letter to a married man with a large family urging him to "marry happily; don't select your acquaintances at random from the streets; send us your photograph and 10 marks and we'll find you a good wife."

The man became very indignant and wrote a scornful letter about it to his favorite newspaper.

Most of the marriages arranged through the matrimonial bureaus are of women more or less advanced in years, and of doubtful physical attraction, but with substantial bank accounts, and young men out of work or weary of working, said the agent of a bureau. The financial arrangements are agreed upon before the marriage.

One young man who accepted a much older woman as wife after she had assured him she had money to support them, brought suit for divorce alleging he had been deceived and that the woman really had very little money. The woman admitted she had misrepresented her income but declared she felt justified because of the lonely life she had been living, with no opportunity to become acquainted with marriageable men.

While the young, attractive girls, who make application for husbands are comparatively few, according to the agents, scores of young men apply for wives, virtually always with the stipulation that they must be wealthy or well-to-do. Farmers, the chief women applicants were servant girls. Shop girls seldom patronize the marriage bureaus.

Scores of marriages are made through the medium of the matrimonial bureaus every month, and their popularity has steadily increased since the war, which left the German women in a large and conscious majority.

But the Russians Take Them—
They Being in no Position to Protest

Moscow, Nov. 3.—Folks "sit" in jail in Russia. Even Americans don't "lie" in jail. That is not done this far east.

All the Americans who have emerged from Russian jails in accordance with the Hoover agreement say: "When I was sitting in Butyrka, or 'Yes, I know Ivan Ivanovich. I sat with him for two months last year.'"

Estes and Flick and Kilpatrick and all the rest of the Americans who fell abeam the Soviet authorities sprinkled their conversation with Russian terms which are conventional in Sovietland but will sound very strange to their friends in the United States.

English-speaking persons in Russia never think of calling the food ration by its English name. It is always "pyok." Fish is never fish but "riba." And the foreigners who were unfortunate enough to get into Bolshevik prisons will probably never eat "riba" again if they can avoid it for the dried and smoked fish served to them in this soup isn't a pleasant memory.

When the Norwegians made a gift of smoked herrings to the Russian famine-sufferer, an American who has been in Russia ever since the Czar was overthrown remarked: "The Norwegians are so blooming tired of eating wooden fish that they are probably glad to hand it over to the poor Russians. It's giving a stone to those who ask for bread. But the Russians can't protest."

"Narkomdel" and scores of other contractions of names for various government departments have found their way into English as it is spoken. It is a contraction of a long agglomeration of Russian words which mean the People's Commissariat for Foreign Affairs.

INGROWN NAIL

Toughen Skin and Toe Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.
